

What Should I already know?

We live on an island named Britain.

Ancient Britain came long after dinosaurs had become extinct and stretched over three ages known as the Stone Age, Bronze Age and the Iron Age.

The Iron Age in Britain ended when people known as the Romans invaded from over the seas.

Who were the Romans and why did they invade?

The Romans were from an area named Italy. Their capital was called Rome.

The Romans had a massive Empire which covered most of Europe.

The Romans decided to invade Britain as there were many valuable resources such as metal and gold which they could mine. There was also lots of land to farm.

The Romans conquered Britain quite easily because:

-The Celts (people who lived in Britain) were all separate tribes and did not have one ruler or army.

-The Romans had an extremely strong and well organised army. Their equipment, training and armour was the best in Europe at the time.

Boudicca fights back

When the Romans conquered Britain many Celts were not happy with this however they could not fight back as the tribes were not united and the Roman army was so well-organised and equipped.

About 20 years after the Romans first invaded a woman named Boudicca, who was the queen of the Iceni tribe, united many of the tribes to fight back against the Romans.

Boudicca and the Romans fought many battles however she was eventually defeated and the Romans remained in Britain.

Rome in charge

The Romans ruled for about 400 years introduced many new inventions to Britain including:

- Paved straight roads and sewers.
- Stone buildings, walls and larger cities.
- Roman mathematic systems.

The city of Exeter was built up by the Romans and there are still many signs of this such as the city walls and the sewage system.

The Romans decide to leave

300 years after Boudicca's defeat the Romans decided to leave Britain.

They left because they needed to defend their capital city of Rome which was under threat from many other tribes.

The British people were left to fend for themselves and many of the Roman cities became ruins.

Chronology

These things all came BEFORE the Romans

These things all came AFTER the Romans

Question 1:	Start of Unit	End of Unit
Put these ages in order using the numbers 1-4.
The Stone Age
Ancient Greece
Roman Britain
Prehistoric times

Question 2: What country did the Romans come from?

Question 3: Explain why the Romans conquered the British quite easily.

Question 4:	Start of Unit	End of Unit
Boudicca was:
A Roman soldier
A famous king who fought against the Romans.
A famous queen who fought against the Romans.

Question 5:	Start of Unit	End of Unit
The Romans left Britain because...
They ran out of materials to mine.
They needed all their soldiers to protect Rome.
They were beaten in a big battle		