Dear Parents and Carers

It seems incredible that in two weeks time it will be the end of the Autumn Term. We have had a busy and full week at the College but it does appear that the winter colds, viruses, flu and general lurgy are upon us. We always ask that you ensure your child attends school unless physically unable to do so. There is always a dilemma for families when a child is ill but coming to work or school with a cold is not uncommon. Attendance is so crucial for pupils and I was reminded by a colleague today that pupils with 90% attendance (and 90% feels a big figure at face value) have actually missed four weeks of education. This represents a significant gap in knowledge and understanding and pupils cannot achieve if they do not attend. Like you, we will always look after your child when unwell – but do please send them to school unless they are too unwell to function.

I referenced the Year 11 Mock GCSEs last week and again I write about this because the Year 11 pupils' drive to be successful is very clear this year particularly. I know all pupils will learn so much from this series and on the whole, we have had great feedback from our external invigilation team. The approach of pupils has been first rate. As we progress with the series I know that pupils are continuing to revise and work so hard – with that hard work comes great reward – it will all pay off.

We wrote about the visit of John Laramy to the College recently. John is the Principal of Exeter College (and former pupil of our school) and is currently working hard on the merger of Exeter College with Petroc at Barnstaple and Tiverton. I have been following this closely and was pleased to meet John again this week at Exeter College to hear the plans he has for post-16 education that will affect our pupils. The plans to raise standards at Petroc are truly transformational and I do believe that there will soon be genuine choice for our pupils between Exeter and the renamed North Devon College. This is great news for Chulmleigh pupils. Whilst I was at Exeter College this week, I saw ex-Chulmleigh pupils at every turn of the corridors! It seemed that they were positively everywhere and it was fantastic to see familiar faces smiling and thriving in post-16 education. The high grades secured at Chulmleigh have given them an incredible spring-board into post-16 education. I was particularly pleased to bump into former Head Girl of Chulmleigh, Tori Higglesden (class of 2018) who now works at the College and remembers her time with us fondly. It was great to see so many former pupils and hear their news – if you have children who have now left the College please do share with us their news. We do genuinely love to hear from ex-pupils and I make a point of sharing any news with all our staff.

BBC Spotlight - Shines a Light on Our 'Phone-Free' School

On 13th November excitement rippled through Chulmleigh College School as a BBC news team arrived to speak with Mr Payne, and pupils Alfie Jones and Ellie Carnegie, about our approach to mobile phone use. At Chulmleigh College we have always held the view that mobile phones must not be accessed during the school day. Mobile phones must always be switched off and out of sight in school. If a mobile phone is seen or heard it will be confiscated. This rule exists for the safety and quality of education for everyone in our community.

The full online article is below. The clip on Spotlight is available on BBC iplayer until 10pm this evening: Spotlight - Late News: 04/12/2025 - BBC iPlayer

Inside schools where phones are locked away

Walk into Brannel School in the morning and you will see teenagers locking away their phones - each device slips into a special pouch that locks until the end of the day.

The phones stay with the pupils, but they are out of reach.

Brannel, near St Austell, Cornwall, is among a number of schools in the South West that are clamping down on phones due to the distractions they create.

Headteacher Tristan Muller-Forster said the system tackled what he called "mobile fatigue".

He said: "If it's accessible in their pocket they just want to reach for it, they don't actually know why, so the beauty of our process here is that those mobile phones are still in their possession, but they are locked away."

The impact is clear - one pupil said: "None of our lessons are getting interrupted by the teachers saying put your phone away."

"It's very good so then people can focus on their learning."

Another added: "Also like anxiety or stress, because then you don't have to worry about loads of things. Students get to socialise more with each other at break time and lunch."

At Chulmleigh College in Devon, the rules are even tougher. Phones can be brought in, but they cannot be seen or heard. Break the rule and you risk losing your phone for weeks.

One pupil said: "If you get caught on your phone, you get detention and it gets confiscated. And then if you do it again, it kind of gets confiscated for longer."

Another added: "It's disrupting your learning and then it's distracting others as well."

Headteacher Neil Payne believes the policy drives success.

He said: "We know that mobile telephones are distracting for young people, and adults for that matter, so to achieve well and to do well and to make every lesson count, we need to make sure that children are focused."

Teachers Rock Event - Exeter Cathedral

On Friday, our Christmas musical performances started with 60 members of our CMAC and Year 7 Rock Choirs singing as part of the Teachers Rock Event at a sold out Exeter Cathedral. Our singers performed a medley of Lovely and Another Love by Tom Odell and Billie Elish, as well as performing in numerous group items with other schools and the Teachers Rock Choir. We now move onto our Christmas Concert on the 10th December and our final day of the term Carol Services and Whole School Assembly performances!

Mr Miners, Teacher of Music

As you can see from the pictures, we had a large number of pupils present at Exeter Cathedral on Friday evening last week for the annual Teachers Rock concert. The College was the only secondary school performing at this event and with over 60 pupils singing beautifully and with such confidence.

Singing has been a big part of what we do in school here for a very long time and it is always wonderful to see pupils performing. We know that singing is a fantastic way of keeping spirits high.

As always, our thanks are extended to Debbie Kent who organises the event but also to Miss Stroud and Mr Miners who made sure our pupils sang so well. My thanks also to Mrs Morgan for supporting the event.

Girls Football

The start of the girls' football season has arrived in earnest, this week our U16s travelled to Park school for their second fixture alongside our U12s (Year 7s) who embarked on their first ever game for Chulmleigh.

The U16s were a changed outfit from the first fixture. Due to the North Devon Schools being run over combined year groups and Chulmleigh being able to select full teams from both Year 10 and 11, the Year 11s played the first fixture, and this game was the turn of our Year 10s.

The girls completely dominated the game, with Isabella Galley, stepping up age groups to play, only required to make a few goalkeeping interventions. The girls struck the woodwork countless times and had the ball in their opponents' half for nearly the entire second half, but apart from the one goal scored by Isla Squire they could not find a second and succumbed 1-2 to their opponents Park, who scored with their only shots of the game! There is a third game to play in this series of matches before semi-finals and finals as well as the Devon cup and the National ESFA cup that I have entered the girls into first time this year, so plenty more football to come girls!

U16 North Devon League: Chulmleigh 1 (Isla Squire) V Park 2

POTM: Lucy Budd / Tommasina Miali

The U12s who have only begin training over the past fortnight faced two games, one against GTS and a second against Park. The girls are very much just finding their feet and so we very much treated the two games as training matches, rotating players and positions and for some getting the opportunity to play their first ever competitive football match. Their first opponents were an incredibly strong GTS side, who had clearly played prior to this occasion and had several girls that played at academy level. The girls fought well and never gave up, with Eliza Hooper in goal making some outstanding saves. Their second game against Park was a far closer tie. The girls played some excellent football, began to find their confidence and although they did not get to celebrate a goal, did everything but score! They were led superbly by their captain Macie Stapleton, and it was clear to see the progress they had made from their first match. Well done to all the girls for their enthusiasm, team spirit and work ethic. There is a lot more football to play, so please be ready for our lunchtime training session every Monday – thank you.

Boys' Football Finals

Three of our boys' teams successfully earned their places in the North Devon Schools Cup and Plate finals last week.

The Year 9s were up first, facing Braunton in the plate final. Having taken the lead through Charlie Williams, they played some excellent football only to suffer heartache by conceding two very late goals. To say the boys were devastated would be an understatement, but I am certain they will use the result to fuel next season and their continued quest for silverware.

North Devon Plate Final: Chulmleigh 1 (Charlie Williams) V Braunton 2
MOTM: Marshall Lill

Our Year 10s were next to travel to Bideford to play South Molton, also in the plate final, but on arrival found that their opponents had suffered a breakdown and were unable to travel. The boys were given the victory by default, but to their credit did not want to accept and we will look to rearrange the fixture early next term.

Finally, it was the turn of our Year 11s in the North Devon cup final. This was the boys' final game in the famous Chulmleigh yellow and black shirts against Ilfracombe, the reigning champions for the past four seasons! Their opponents started strongly, but the boys never at any point conceded the game and worked tirelessly under the floodlights to pull two goals back, one from our stand-in striker Olly Woodman and the second from the captain, Luke Morphet. Unfortunately, this was not enough to change the outcome of the match, a 2-5 defeat, but the boys were commented upon by our opposition for being the best side they had played this year and took defeat with grace and dignity.

Merry Mathsmas 2025 – Year 7

Year 7 enjoyed a lively and festive maths morning today as they took part in our Merry Mathsmas event. Classrooms were filled with energy from the start, and it was lovely to see pupils working together, laughing, and stretching their thinking in new ways.

The highlight of the morning was an interactive maths Zoom session led by Zoe Griffiths from Think Maths. Schools from across the country, both state and private, joined in, which gave the whole session a real sense of occasion.

Pupils tackled a mix of games, puzzles and challenges, including a festive maths bingo that went down very well. One of the standout moments was the folding problem, where everyone discovered that any shape with straight edges can be cut out using just a single cut. This caused plenty of surprised faces and some very determined folding attempts.

We would like to offer a heartfelt thank you to the PTFA for funding the event. Their support made it possible for Year 7 to take part in such a memorable experience. We are also grateful to all staff who reshuffled their lessons and rooms so the morning could run smoothly.

It was a lovely way to bring maths to life as we head towards the end of term. The event really engaged our pupils and helped them apply their maths skills in a very different context.
